

Shared Education Newsletter

Killowen and St John's, Coleraine

April 2018

Shared Music Video gets Royal seal of approval!!

We are so delighted that our joint music video has royal fans!! Prince Harry and Meghan Markle spoke to some of our children at the "Amazing The Space" event just before Easter, when they recognised them from the screen. Make sure you watch our music video to help you understand what shared education means to us. The class councils in both schools came up with ideas and with the help of Ian Hannah, the song was created. Denise Hood (Barazina) choreographed the video. It was great fun to do and it showcases some of the shared, day to day activities that take place in both schools. Go to our school websites and click the community tab, then the shared education tab for a treat!

www.stjohnspscoleraine.com

www.killowenprimary.co.uk

Art with West Bann

During the first term each class took advantage of the fabulous resources and talents on offer at West Bann Community Centre. All the children created hands on canvas and wrote their ambitions for the future for their hands.

"These hands will help people feel better"

"These are the hands that will cure cancer"

Teachers get in on the act!

Our partnership has been awarded "Hub Partnership" status because of our super history of working together successfully. We are one of the first three Primary hub partnerships in Northern Ireland. As a result our teachers are now learning together too.

Follow our schools on twitter to see all the joint learning we get up to together. Even learning to spell is better together!!

@killowenps @stjohnscoleraine

#LivingAndLearningTogether